* Some trains do not have attendants for some journey sections.

Iwashimizu-hachimangu-sando-cable

This cable car forms the approach to the Iwashimizu-hachimangu Shrine. The cable car was redesigned in 2019, the beginning of the Reiwa era. The two cable cars, which form a pair, were modeled on the "Doves of Aun" of Iwashimizu-hachimangu Shrine, which are thought to be divine messengers. One car was designed as the "Sun messenger" (= "Akane"), and the other as the "Moon messenger" (= "Kogane").

○ Required time: Approx. 3 mins (One-way)

Attractions along the train line

Osaka
area

The Osaka area is full of enjoyable places. To start with, there is Osaka Castle, which sits in lush surroundings and is noted in connection with Taiko Toyotomi Hideyoshi. Other attractions include Osaka Aquarium Kaiyukan, one of the world's largest aquariums, with its popular huge whale shark, and the Universal Studios Japan theme park, full of the world's best wonder and thrills.

Gion /

Guide to routes

1 Kurama-dera Temple

Many people visit Kurama-dera Temple to recharge, healing themselves spiritually and physically in the refreshing air. Kurama-dera Temple is famous as the temple in the legend of the tengu (mountain spirit) and Ushiwakamaru (Minamoto no Yoshitsune) and is noted in connection with the poet Yosano Akiko as well.

■Access Alight at Kurama Station.
Approx. 3 min. walk to the Deva temple gate, and 30 min. walk or 2 min. by cable car and 10 min. walk to main building.

2 Kifune-jinja Shrine

The god of water which the Kifune-jinja Shrine worships is held in deep reverence. This shrine is also known as the origin of ema, votive wooden tablets presented in prayer. In summer there is a water festival and the Tanabata festival, and in fall people enjoy watching the beautiful colored leaves and dreamy illumination displays.

■Access Alight at Kibuneguchi Station, change to a Kyoto Bus and ride for 5 min. to the shrine (Approx. 30 min. on foot)

3 Momiji Tunnel

Many maple trees (“momiji”) line both sides of the railway for about 250 meters between Ichihara Station and Ninose Station, and this is called the “Momiji Tunnel”. Very beautiful fall colors can be enjoyed from the train windows.

4 Jissoin Monzeki Temple

This Monzeki temple (temple with connections to the Imperial Family) was formerly a temple of the Jimon school of the Tendai sect of Buddhism. In the temple are two gardens and a painting on a fusuma by the Kano school. The temple houses many treasures connected with the Imperial Family. You can appreciate the temple's lovely rock gardens and cherry blossoms in the spring, beautiful dappled greenery reflected on the floorboards from the start of summer, and pretty colored leaves reflected on the floorboards in fall.

■Access Alight at Iwakura Station and walk about 20 min. to the temple, or alight at Hachiman-mae Station and change to a Kyoto Bus for the temple.

5 World Heritage site Hieizan Enryaku-ji Temple

The head temple of the Tendai sect of Buddhism, founded by Dengyodaishi (Saicho). Many well-known monks in the history of Buddhism in Japan trained at Mt. Hiei in their young days, so this temple is also considered as the birthplace of Japanese Buddhism.

■Access Alight at Yase-Hieizanguchi Station, take cable car and ropeway to Hieisancho (Mt. Hiei Summit), and go to Enryaku-ji Temple's areas by shuttle bus.

6 Renge-ji Temple

Kimyozan Renge-ji Temple, built by the Ohara highway. It has stone lanterns called “rengejikei” with hexagonal steeply inclined lantern shades. View the garden with its pond and arrangement of stones shaped like a crane and turtle, said by some to have been created by Ishikawa Jozan. Enjoy the new greenery of the maples at the start of summer and the colorful foliage in fall.

■Access Alight at Miyakehachiman Station and walk about 10 min. to the temple.

7 Rurikoin Temple

Several hundred maple trees all around the temple grounds take on fall colors. The bright fall foliage and stunning view the Ruri garden offers are as pretty as a picture postcard.

■Access Alight at the Eiden Yase-Hieizanguchi Station 5 min. on foot southward.

8 Shisendo Temple

The temple has a great poets room which displays portraits of 36 great Chinese poets, painted by Kano Tan'yu, and thus the temple came to be called Shisendo (“hall of great poets”). The Chinese-style garden is an exemplary fine garden, charming even on rainy days, adding to the temple's great popularity.

■Access Alight at Ichijoji Station and walk 15 min. to the temple.

Randen (Keifuku Electric Railroad)

The Randen Lines connect directly to famous sightseeing spots of western Kyoto.
Western Kyoto is dotted with temples which are World Cultural Heritage Sites.
The Arashiyama Main Line connects Shijo-Omiya in the east with Arashiyama in the west in 24 minutes.
The Kitano Line's stations are named after famous shrines and temples.

Guide to routes

Randen is the nickname of the Keifuku trams.

The Arashiyama Line started service in 1910 as the "Arashiyama Densha Kido" (Arashiyama Electric Tram Railway), and people affectionately called it "Randen". Since starting, Randen trams have been a part of the history of Kyoto, and they are now the only trams left in Kyoto.

Arashiyama Main Line

A route which connects Shijo-Omiya with Kyoto's popular sightseeing area "Arashiyama".
Trams run on Kyoto's only tramline, along which are many scenic and historic places spanning ancient times to recent years.

Arashiyama / Sagano

This area boasts Togetsukyo bridge and the Bamboo Forest of Sagano, as well as many famous temples. Its abundant nature in each season is also an attraction. Many tourists from all over Japan and overseas visit this area.

A13 Right next to Arashiyama Station

Tenryu-ji Temple

The temple was founded by Ashikaga Takauji to pray for the repose of Emperor Go-Daigo's soul. It has many places worth seeing, including the Sogenchi Pond Garden, a designated special historical and scenic spot, that was created by Muso Soseki, the first chief priest of the temple.

A13 Right next to Arashiyama Station

Kurumazaki-jinja Shrine

This shrine is dedicated to Kiyohara no Yorinari, a Confucian scholar from the late Heian period. The popular spiritual hot spot "kiyome no yashiro" (purification shrine) and the entertainment shrine in the grounds are also visited by many entertainers.

A10 Right next to Kurumazaki-jinja Station

Rokuoin Temple

Kakuyuzan Hodo-ji Temple was established by Ashikaga Yoshimitsu to pray for the prolongation of his life. It is said that Rokuoin was given its name (literally "deer ruler temple") because a group of wild deer appeared when it was built as the Hodo-ji temple founder's resting place. Hodo-ji Temple was destroyed by fire in the Onin War, but Rokuoin was restored and shows its ancient form even today. The beauty of its maples also draws many visitors.

A11 About 4 min. on foot from Rokuoin Station

Toei Kyoto Studio Park

A movie theme park in the area of Uzumasa, the birthplace of Japanese movies. Tour period drama filming, and experience the world of period dramas through outdoor sets, events, and park attractions! The ninja shows and character shows are also popular.

A7 About 5 min. on foot from Uzumasa-Koryuji Station

B1 About 2 min. on foot from Satsueisho-mae Station (Satsueisho-guchi)

Nijo-jo Castle

Nijo-jo Castle is a flatland castle that was built as a base of the Tokugawa shogunate. Since then major repairs have been carried out on it. It has important cultural assets, including national treasure Ninomaru Palace, "Otemon" main gate and "sumi yagura" turrets, and Honmaru Palace. The garden of Ninomaru is a national designated special scenic spot.

A1 On foot or by bus from Shijo-Omiya Station

A5 From Randen-Tenjigawa Station, take the Subway Tozai Line to Nijo-jo-mae and alight

Kitano Line

Old temples which are World Cultural Heritage Sites are dotted along the line, as well as ancient and famous temples from the Heian dynasty to the Muromachi period. Change to the Arashiyama Main Line at Katabiranotsuji.

Ninna-ji Temple

Ninna-ji Temple is a Monzeki temple whose construction was ordered by Emperor Koko and saw completion under Emperor Uda. It is also known as "Kyu-Omuro-Goshou". The temple is famous for its grounds with their many highlights, its delicate, beautiful main building, and its late-blooming cherry blossoms, "omuro-zakura".

B5 About 3 min. on foot from Omuro-Ninnaji Station

Toji-in Temple

Ashikaga Takauji founded this temple. The temple was the Ashikaga dynasty's funeral temple, and many shoguns are buried there. The temple has two gardens in which lay two ponds, "fuyo-chi" and "shinji-ke", said to have been created by Muso Soseki. Between these gardens lies Hokyoin pagoda, the tomb of Ashikaga Takauji.

B8 About 5 min. on foot from Tojiin Ritsumeikan University Station

Myoshin-ji Temple

The temple was established when Emperor Hanazono donated his own imperial villa to found a Zen temple and made Kanzan Egen the founding monk. There are forty-six minor temples in the huge grounds. On the ceiling of the lecture hall is a picture of cloud and dragon done by Kano Tan'yu.

B6 About 3 min. on foot from Myoshinji Station

Kitano Temmangu Shrine

This is the head shrine of all Japanese Temmangu Shrines which worship the god of scholarship, Sugawara no Michizane. It is known as one of the leading picturesque places in Kyoto. In spring the ume (Japanese apricot) garden is opened to the public and in fall it is the turn of the maple garden. On the 25th of every month there is a fair, and many visitors flock to the shrine.

B9 About 5 min. on foot from Kitano-Hakubaicho Station

Ryoan-ji Temple

Hosokawa Katsumoto founded Ryoan-ji Temple. The temple's rock garden, which is formed by fifteen stones and white sand, is very famous. The Stone Water-Basin, said to be Mito Mitsukuni's contribution, and the fall foliage of Koyo-chi Pond are also popular.

B7 About 7 min. on foot from Ryoanji Station

Kinkaku-ji Temple (Rokuon-ji)

This temple is a branch temple of Shokoku-ji Temple. The golden pavilion of the reliquary hall is famous, so the temple is called Kinkaku-ji (Temple of the Golden Pavilion). After Ashikaga Yoshimitsu's death, the building was transformed from a villa into the temple, with Muso Kokushi as the founder.

B9 About 15 min. on foot from Kitano-Hakubaicho Station
